YOGA MATS

Materials

Samarali yoga mat is made of natural cork on one side and natural rubber on the other hand. The cork comes from of cork oak trees that are harvested every 9 years without damaging the tree.

Natural rubber is made from the white liquid (latex) which is removed from the rubber trees. There are approx. 200 different types of trees worldwide from which this rubber can be extracted.

Environmentally friendly

These yoga mats do not contain PVC, BPA or other plastics or toxins. This makes them an ideal alternative for other types of synthetic mats. The mats are breathable, comfortable, pleasant to the skin and will not curl at the edges.

Unique Central Asian design

Our yoga mats are designed in accordance with our core values that appreciate our Central Asian heritage and culture.

Antimicrobial properties

The cork yoga mat has self-cleaning properties, meaning that it is anti-bacterial, rot resistant, prevents the growth of mold and it perfectly handles sweat and odor, especially after intensive yoga exercises.

Grip

The slip-resistant properties of our cork yoga mats helps you to keep your balance, even during intensive yoga exercises. Its cushioning properties absorb pressure instead of displacing it, making your exercises even more comfortable and enjoyable.

Carry strap

The cotton carry strap included in the package is small enough so it can be tucked away anywhere, but strong enough that it enables you to carry your yoga mat anywhere you want, problem-free.

Sustainable packaging

Our products and packaging have a minimal impact on nature. We don't use plastic for packaging but only cardboard or other sustainable materials.

Product care

Please clean the surface of the mat with a wet towel. For a deeper cleaning please use cloth diluted in soap or vinegar. You shouldn't forget to rinse it with water and dry it before rolling it back up.
